Mission UDAY - Creating Change Makers in Tribal Communities

I. Background:

Odisha, eleventh largest state, situated along the east coast of India has a population of 41.9 million and has the third highest tribal population after Madhya Pradesh and Maharashtra. A large proportion of the population (40%) belongs to the disadvantaged communities (22.85% ST and 17.13% SC) and Odisha is home to 62 tribes of which 13 are primitive, categorized as “particularly vulnerable tribal groups”. The State has high poverty levels (32.6%), and poor social and development indicators. Nearly 18 districts of the state is affected by left wing extremism and the situation is particularly challenging in some of the tribal dominated southern districts of Odisha. Demographically, the state is passing through a historic window of opportunity where every fifth person (18.5%) is a youth (age 15-24 years). This provides an immense opportunity for investments in young people particularly from the vulnerable groups to improve the social and development indicators for the state.

Young people from tribal communities face multiple challenges such as child marriage, teenage pregnancies, low awareness on sexual and reproductive health issues, discontinue education, engage in menial livelihoods or migrate to other places as unskilled labourers. The situation is further compounded by poverty and difficulty in accessing information and benefits of different government schemes and programmes. All these factors expose young boys and girls to exploitation and risk taking behaviour including risk of joining armed left wing extremist groups.

With a view to address regional disparities and to expedite development of tribal/scheduled districts, the Central and the State governments have made special provisions and programmes through various Ministries and Departments. So also other initiatives are being undertaken by State government targeting young people, such as residential schools and scholarship for tribal students, support for school fees for students from ST communities who opt to study in private schools, special provisions for skill development and promotion of entrepreneurship. Despite such initiatives, access to information and reach of programmes and schemes to tribal communities remains a challenge.

Kalinga Institute of Social Sciences (KISS) partnered with United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) to undertake the Mission Uday which aimed at building young leaders from tribal and most vulnerable regions of the state who can become change agents in their communities. The project will encompass training, capacity building and mentoring support so that Youth are able to connect their communities to various welfare programmes, take up social issues and positively influence peers. The project will be implemented for a period of three years in three tribal dominated districts such as Koraput, Malkangiri and Rayagada covering 19 backward blocks, 285 Gram Panchyats and 4529 villages.

The focus of the intervention was to identify and reach out to young people in the most vulnerable geographies, build capacities on life skills and leadership and inculcate values of active citizenship so that they are not easy victims of radical ideas. Besides, a training module in Odia language was developed and training programs undertaken for identified youths on Life Skills, SRH, Social Entrepreneurship, Government Programs and Policies etc. These trained youths undertake community awareness programs in their respective communities through regular mentoring and hand holding support. So, also 30 selected youths undertake social action projects on reproductive health, education, environment, livelihood and social issues such as child marriage etc. Support extended for youth in linking them to programmes and schemes of the government and non-government agencies including enrolment in placement linked skill development programmes and social entrepreneurship. A video documentary highlighting process of the intervention developed. Besides, monitoring tools developed and placed for execution. A web based MIS portal developed for reporting and monitoring of activities.

I. Objective of the intervention:

- a) Reduce vulnerabilities of young people from tribal communities and mainstream them through training and mentoring programmes
- b) Create a cadre of tribal youth leaders who would be change agents in their respective communities, engaging in social issues and helping them to take advantage of welfare programmes
- c) Develop a model for youth engagement in conflict affected areas.

II. Highlight of activities undertaken in the year 2018:

Activity01: Promoting youth as change agents by identifying and building capacities of young men and women from tribal districts of Koraput, Malkangiri and Rayagada 299 youths from three intervention districts were identified through a systematic process with involvement of district administration. Data base of selected youths developed. Community meetings were undertaken to sensitize youth and seek nominations. State and District level consultations were organized with key stakeholders to inform about the project and also understand the issues and aspirations of youth. State level project lunch ceremony organized to create a forum to network and reaffirm support and linkages for the project.

Residential training of 281 youth volunteers from three intervention districts has been successfully conducted. A systematic training schedule for 10 days duration was developed. A pool of 33 master trainers including faculty of KISS was identified. A three day Trainers training was organized to orient the trainers on the objectives of the program, subject of training, methodology etc.

Pre and post assessment were undertaken in each batch to understand baseline knowledge and training impact. 2 days exposure and interface with agencies such as Institute of Entrepreneurship Development (IED), Odisha Farm Machinery Research and Development Centre (OFMRDC) and KIIT Skill were organized. A recognition kit comprising of a back pack, T-shirt and cap provided to all trainees. During the training, youths were oriented on various social issues and welfare activities which they can undertake in their respective communities. Besides, reporting and monitoring mechanism of activities were discussed at length. A video documentary highlighting process of the intervention as well as on documenting youth initiatives developed. Besides, a web based MIS portal developed for reporting and monitoring activities.

Mapping backward blocks and panchayats from selected districts:

In consultation with district administration, intervention districts and blocks were identified based on development indicators and vulnerabilities of communities, particularly young people. Besides, percentage of tribal population, LWE affected regions, literacy rates and accessibility was parameters for selection of districts and blocks. Even efforts were made to identify Gram Panchyats (GPs) and villages those are mostly vulnerable.

State level consultation with youth:

The state level consultation with youths was conducted at Bhubaneswar on 15th May 2018 at KIIT school of Management where 45 youths from Koraput, Malkangiri and Rayagada participated. The idea of the consultation was to reflect the aspirations of the youth in the training module that was to be prepared as the part of the training program for the youth. The major issues that are reflected by youths are;

- Quality education is the key to development and there is a lack of quality and quantity of education.
- Inaccessibility to educational institutions due to distance allied with inadequate communication facility result in low enrolment.
- Available vocational education is more male centric to the neglect of girls.
- Some of the social problems that stand out in most tribal areas are early marriage leading to early child birth, alcoholism and domestic violence.
- Except for Agriculture related Labour and Owner Cultivation, other livelihood options are absent.

- Extremism in tribal areas considered is an important cause of backwardness and this has prevented developmental activities.
- Young people are not joining defense and police force due to fear of extremists.

State level Project launch:

The State level project launch event was organized on 16th May'2018 with an objective to create a forum to network and reaffirm support and linkages for the project. Key stakeholders from the government, non-government agencies, and members from media and 300 youths from the project areas participated. The launch event was graced by Shri Ramesh Majhi, Hon'ble Minister ST and SC Development, Government of Odisha, Dr. Jennifer Butler Deputy Regional Director, Asia Pacific Regional Office, UNFPA, Mr. S K Gupta, Director, Technical, REC limited, Dr. Achyut Samanta, Founder, KIIT & KISS and Member of Rajya Sabha, Dr. Deepa Prasad, SPC, UNFPA and Dr. Prasanta Routray, CEO KISS. All invited guests highlighted that the project will endeavour to create change agents in the community and build young leaders who would engage in social development processes and influence their peers for the betterment of their communities. It was also opined that Project UDAY is an innovative step in this direction which will help young people to take advantage of government programmes that have a focus on skill development and livelihood enhancement and will not only empower young leaders but also their communities. During the launch event, the project logo was inaugurated and also a short video on the project displayed to the forum. Besides, selected youths from intervention districts presented their issues, challenges and aspirations to the larger forum.

District level consultation with key stakeholders:

One day district level launch cum consultation meetings were organized in three intervention districts to share the project objectives and garner support of key stakeholders to facilitate in implementation of the project, finalize modalities for nomination and selection of youth and detail out mechanisms to establish linkages with ongoing programmes as well as to identify nodal officers at district level for coordination of project activities

The district level consultation was organized in three districts under the chairmanship of Deputy Director, Planning Prafulla Kumar Behera in Malkangiri, K. Sudarshan Chakravarti the District Collector, Koraput and Sukanta Tripathy, Project Director, DRDA Rayagada. Besides, other district officials such as PA-ITDA, DWO, DIPRO, ADM, DSWO and BDOs participated in the consultation. Besides, Youths from 19 intervention blocks, District and Block Coordinators of Biju Yuva Bahini (BYV), Members of KISS parent committees, NGOs and media also participated. The major outcome of the consultation was;

- District level government officials were informed on the project objective and through their participation tactical support was obtained.
- District sports officer was nominated as nodal person for coordination of the project
- District level screening committee for nomination of youth formed. It comprises District Sports Officer, representative from Project team and a local NGO
- Modalities for Youth nominations from various agencies such as BYV, WSHGs, NGOs, Micro Projects, KISS Parents committee and other Government agencies formalized.
- Broad screening criteria for nomination of youth formalized.

Community meetings for nomination of youth:

During the “Kanya Kiran” campaign of KISS to stop sexual harassment against girl child and women, the platform was used by project UDAY team to sensitize community members for youth nominations for the Project. The team reached out to 18 locations, 6 in each of the three select districts from 4th to 7th June, 2018. Although some of the locations for example, Chitrakonda and the Bonda Hills of Makkangiri district were inaccessible by road, the only means of communication being foot, never the less, the students of KISS had organized youth meet in these areas. In all these meetings, PRI representatives, Members of WSHGs, Youth Club members, Village Development Committee members and tribal youth participated. Detail information about the project, criteria for nomination of youth and role of youth was highlighted. Further, more discussions were held with potential youth for bringing more clarity on their role and responsibilities. This approach was adopted to ensure active participation of community stakeholders and bringing transparency in the selection process.

Sensitization cum screening workshop to identify youth:

Process for selection of Youth:

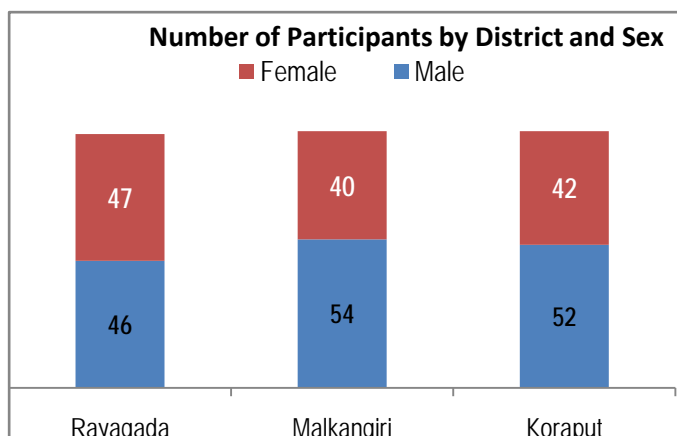

The process of selection involved the following steps:

1. Consultation with the Govt. of Odisha through the Secretary of Sports and Youth Affairs to facilitate the rolling of the projects in the district.
2. District level consultation with the District Collector and other officials where the objectives of the project and the likely outcome was explained. Criteria for selection of youth, was finalized and District Sports Officer was entrusted with the responsibility to be the nodal person for coordination of the project.
3. State level consultation with selected youth from three intervention districts to learn about the problems and aspirations of the tribal youths.
4. Community level sensitization about project UDAY organized at 18 remote locations (6 in each district) along with “Kanya Kiran” campaign of KISS.
5. Screening of youths at the district head quarters in the presence of the selection committee. On the basis of previously set criteria. In the final analysis 299 youths comprising of 205 male and 94 female from 15 blocks were identified to undergo training. The selected youths came through KISS Parents committee (58.2%), Biju Yuva Vahini (29.1%), Mission Shakti (10.7%) and Govt. Agencies (2.0%).

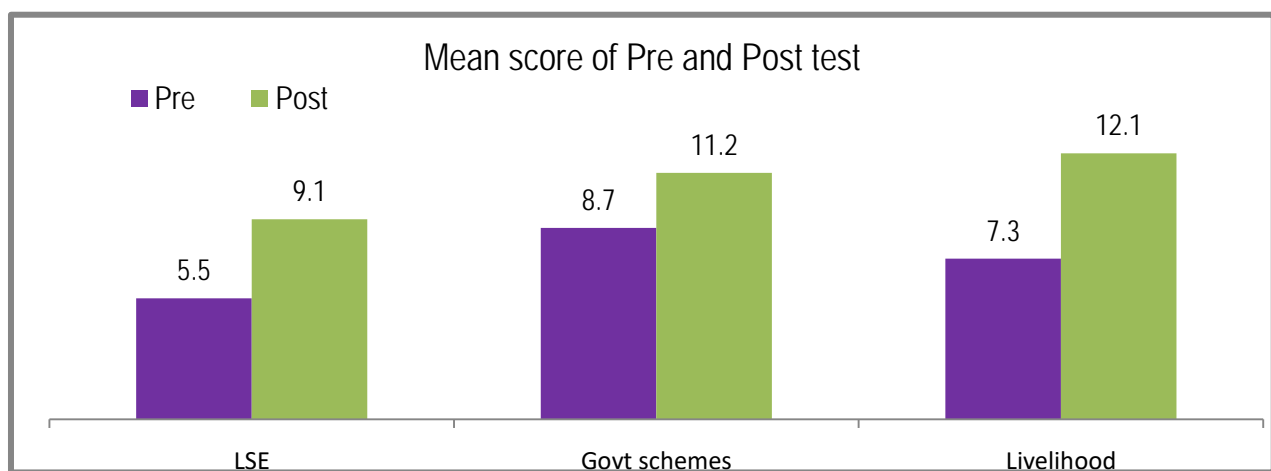

State level residential training of Youth:

Seven batches of residential training program of 10 days duration involving 281 youths from Rayagada, Koraput and Malkangiri was organized at KIIT University from 2nd August to 29th September, 2018 with an objective of capacity building and prepare the youth to be a change maker in their respective communities. In each batch a mix of boys and girls underwent training based on a standardized module prepared for the purpose. A pool of 33 master trainers facilitated the training including faculty of KISS and other external experts.

The thematic sessions covered during the training were: basic understanding on 10 core Life skills, Me & My identity, Leadership, Communication, Conflict Management, Community Mobilization, SRH issues like Menstruation, Conception and Contraception, Age at Marriage, RTI/STI, HIV/AIDS, Gender, Domestic Violence, Government Schemes and Programs, Entrepreneurship, Skill development opportunities and Financial Literacy. The volunteers were also trained on livelihood skills relating to Forest Products, Animal Husbandry and Agriculture cum Horticulture.

Elaborating discussions were also held on social action projects and mechanism for monitoring and documentation of activities.

Pre and post-test were conducted for each batch of training on three thematic areas namely (1) Life Skills & SRH, (2) Government Scheme and programs and (3) Livelihood based skills.

During the training, opportunities for exposure and interface with agencies like Institute of Entrepreneurship Development (IED) and Odisha Farm Machinery Resource and Development Centre (OFMRDC), KIIT Skill was made to have skills on different vocations and to support young trainees for initiating start ups on food processing as well as adopting a modern technology on farming. A recognition kit comprising of a back pack, T-shirt, youth dairy and cap provided to all trainees for visibility and undertaking field level activities. So also a participation certificate along with group photograph was provided to trainees. Data base of each trainees maintained.

Recognition kit for 280 trainees:

A kit bag comprising of a T-Shirt, County Cap and Back Pack Bag with UDAY logo imprinted on it was procured and distributed to trainees. The participants were also provided with a pen and an informative youth dairy for taking training notes as well as document field level activities.

Exposure visit during the training for trainees:

During the seven batches of state level of training of youth, trainees were taken for exposure to KIIT Skill, Livelihood Incubation Centre of Institute of Entrepreneurship Development (IED) and Odisha Farm Machinery Resource and Development Centre (OFMRDC), Bhubaneswar for interface with these agencies and also understanding skill opportunities for them. Besides, it supported young trainees for initiating start ups on food processing as well as adopting a modern technology on farm equipments and their use instead of traditional methods. The exposure not only motivates them but also broadened their aspiration level to explore any livelihood scope.

Documentation and showcasing change makers impact:

To ensure proper documentation, a volunteer's diary has been exclusively developed where each volunteers is required to record the activities undertaken by him/her on a daily basis before it goes out of memory. Similarly a monthly reporting format has also been developed in which the District Coordinator will report the activities undertaken in the district to the state office. Lately a web based mobile application on android platform has also been developed where the volunteer are required to upload the activity along with photographs on a real time basis. The information uploaded from the field will be stored in the web and reports can be generated at any time.

A short video documentary on Uday project has been produced highlighting the process adopted in training, and the activities undertaken by the volunteers in the field. It is proposed to use the video to attract other young volunteers from the tribal communities into the Uday fold.

Strategy 02: Design and develop training programme for youth engagement in conflict affected areas

Through consultations with expert's content for module finalized and also meeting organized with them to review met and finalizes the training module and the hand outs for participants. Training module was developed both in English and Odia on themes such as Life Skills Education, Sexual Reproductive Health, Entrepreneurship, Livelihood, Skill Development and Government programs and schemes. The master trainers were also oriented on training methodology and class room management

Consultation and drafting committee for designing the training programme:

Workshops were organized inviting domain experts from Odisha Livelihood Mission (OLM), ORMAS, Institute Entrepreneurship Development (IED), KIIT Skill, CYSD, PRADAN and Faculties of KISS to finalize topics to be covered in the training, the structure of the module and modalities of transaction. A drafting committee constituted with domain experts and faculty from KISS to review the module. During the training of youth, field testing of the module on content, language, methodology etc conducted and necessary changes made in the module. The final Odia version of the module developed and printed for reference of trainers and Pragati Sathis

Three days orientation of Master trainers on transaction of module:

A group of 33 master trainers comprising KISS faculties and outside experts were identified based on their expertise and contribution in developing training module. A three days orientation on the training module was organized from 24th to 26th July'2018 where theme wise sessions were transacted by experts and feedback taken from the group. The orientation helped in bringing common understanding among trainers on its core content, methodology and output from the particular session. Importantly, a pool of resource trainers was developed on a particular topic.

Strategy 3: Community level outreach programs by Pragati Sathis

Trained Youth volunteers after the training conducted community awareness programs involving PRIs, SHGs and youths of the locality as well as undertake social action projects on issues of Health, Education Livelihood and social issues such as child marriage etc. Regular mentoring and hand holding support extended to youth in engaging facilitators.

Community Awareness Programs

In the original target, the trained volunteers were expected to conduct 600 Community Awareness Programs (CAP) during 2018 at panchayat / village levels inviting local leaders, PRIs, SHGs, youth and community members to disseminate learning and information on various government programmes, schemes, their entitlements, opportunities for livelihood and skill building and connect tribal communities to welfare programmes. Some of the other themes on which the volunteers were expected to create awareness was, child marriage, sexual and reproductive health, gender discrimination including gender based violence, safer and informed migration, substance abuse, exploitation and such other issues. However due to an initial delay in rolling out the program, the target number of CAP were reduced to 300, (100 per district) for the year 2018.

In all 363 'Community Awareness Programs' were conducted during 2018. Of this, 104 were conducted in Koraput, 136 in Malkangiri and 123 in Rayagada. Since some of these programs were conducted by the volunteers immediately after the training in their own initiative without being supervised by the District Coordinators, they did not form a part of our sponsored (paid) program. Thus, the number of sponsored programs during 2018 was limited to 284 i.e. 94 in Koraput, 100 in Malkangiri and 90 in Rayagada against the target of 100 programs per district. District and block wise number of programs conducted during 2018 under both sponsored and voluntary category is presented in table-5.

Table-1
Community Awareness Programs conducted during 2018
Under Uday Project by district and block

District	Number of Volunteers Trained			Number and % of of Volunteers executed CAP
	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total
Koraput	52	42	94	33 (63.4%)	24 (57.1%)	57 (60.6%)
Malkangiri	54	40	94	31 (57.4%)	23 (57.7%)	54 (57.4%)
Rayagada	46	47	93	32 (69.6%)	37 (78.7%)	69 (74.2%)
Total	152	129	281	96	84	180 (64.0%)

A volunteer is likely to take initiative to organize community awareness programs only when he or she is an active member. Percentage of volunteers organizing the CAP out of the total trained volunteers may therefore be taken as a proxy indicator of active volunteering. Although the project might have attained 94% of the targeted community awareness programs (284 out of 300), but this was done by only 180 (64%) volunteers indicating that 26% volunteers did not get involved in the community awareness program.

Based on the contents of the training provided, 11 thematic areas were identified on which Community Awareness Programs could be conducted. However, the volunteers preferred to confine themselves to 5 major thematic areas namely, Sexual Reproductive Health, Government Schemes and Programs, Safe Migration, Animal husbandry and other schemes.

Under SRH (theme No-2) 72 awareness programs were conducted on topics like menstrual hygiene, symptoms of RTI and STI, HIV/AIDS. On theme No-3, i.e. Govt. schemes, 128 programs were conducted. Some of the schemes discussed under this head were central and state government schemes on pension, insurance, health, infrastructure, entitlements under 'Public Distribution System', Mamata Scheme, labour rights under MGNREGA, functions and role of 'Palli sabha' etc. Awareness programs on safe migration were conducted in 21 communities where the likely migrants were informed about the entitlements and safety provisions available under Inter State Labour Migration Act. There were 8 programs on Animal husbandry where focus was on immunizing the existing birds and domestic animals. There were 130 other programs that included awareness on themes like child marriage, skill training, 'Swasch Bharat', hand washing etc. Our volunteers conducted 4 blood donation camps and also contributed labour for reconstruction of school building, Aangan-wadi Kendra, sanitation drives etc.

Social Action Projects

The original target of the project was to execute 60 Social Action Projects in 2018. The target was reduced to 30 considering the initial delay in rolling out the project. During the year under reference Malkangiri district conducted 12 action projects, Koraput and Rayagada conducted 9 each.

Table-3
Social Action Projects by District and Theme

TOTAL	9	12	9

There were 9 action projects on free coaching where the volunteers conducted an initial survey of their respective localities and collected names of children who were either school drop outs or irregular in school attendance. Such students are being supported with free coaching for six days in a week by our volunteers to improve their educational performance. Regular tests are conducted and parents are apprised about the changing academic performance of the students.

The govt. of Odisha is facilitating organic vegetable farming in Koraput district where the production is proposed to be collected from the farmers to cater to the need of the urban centres. Visualizing the demand for organic manure, 2 of our volunteers are demonstrating in their respective panchayats the construction of compost pits and manufacture of manure there-in from household wastes. One volunteer in Pottangi of Koraput which happens to be one of the vegetable hubs of the state is popularising vermi-culture as an alternative to chemical fertilizer. There is a fourth volunteer under this theme who is involved in demonstrating farmers in the manufacture of low cost liquid bio-fertilizer (Handi Khata).

Seven volunteers have started nutrition garden in seven ashrams schools. Volunteers are contributing labour to prepare the ground and plant vegetables in the school premises. There is an understanding that the school will look after the plants and water them on a regular basis. The production from the nutrition garden will be consumed by the ashram inmates.

Seven volunteers are undertaking a detailed survey of all the villages in their respective panchayats. It is proposed to prepare a panchayat level survey report. This will help in identifying and facilitating children who are eligible for school admission during the coming academic session. The report will be utilized to identify unemployed youth eligible for skill training, widows eligible for pension, inter-state migrant labour, likely beneficiaries under the govt. shelter schemes and many more.

Three of our volunteers in Rayagada district with the assistance of the local ASHA are organizing girls clubs to spread awareness on RTI/STI, early marriage and menstrual hygiene in their respective panchayats.

Contact and Mentoring Session with Youth:

Before the formal start of community activities by the trained volunteers, a contact and mentoring session was organized at all the three district head quarters simultaneously on Saturday the 13th October, 2018. A common agenda for all the three districts was prepared for the purpose. The meetings started with a welcome address by the respective District Coordinators. This was followed by apprising the volunteers about the purpose of planning the activities to be undertaken in the field. By scheduling the activities the District Coordinator and other volunteers could provide the required support. Opportunity was also provided to the volunteers to speak on the initiatives already taken by them in their respective communities. Finally there was the address by the chief guest. The second part of the meeting was devoted to preparation of the action plan for the quarter ending December, 2018. Procedure for preparation of the action plan and a format to record the plan was provided. The volunteers divided themselves into block wise groups and after deliberations, prepared the action plan.

Monitoring and Facilitation of Community Awareness Programs:

Since the number of Community Awareness Programs for each district is going to be 100 in number, and it may not be possible for the District Coordinators to directly supervise all the programs, it was decided that monitoring and facilitation of the CAP will be supported by appointing temporary facilitators. To this end the Regional Coordinator and the District Coordinators were requested to suggest names from their respective localities that could facilitate and monitor the awareness programs. The willingness of the suggested names was ascertained by the project office telephonically and they were provided with temporary appointment orders.

Experience Sharing Workshop:

In the original project plan, it was conceived that the volunteers will share their experience of working in the project either through a state or district level workshop inviting government officials, NGOs, local leaders and media. Since the volunteers were busy with their community awareness activities and Social action projects throughout the last quarter, it was decided to postpone this to the next year. The funds available under this head were utilized for a three day orientation to the newly appointed facilitators organized at Jeypore from 4th to 6th November, 2018. 23 facilitators from all the three districts along with the District Coordinators, Regional coordinator attended the orientation.

During the orientation, the facilitators were made aware about the objectives and the likely outcome of the project. Training was imparted on Life skill, SRH, Safe Migration, and important Govt. Schemes. A large part of time was devoted to filling up of the reporting format and distribution of responsibilities between the District Coordinator and the Facilitator. 23 facilitators from all the three districts along with the District Coordinators, Regional coordinator attended the orientation

Coordination and planning meetings:

Three review and planning meeting was held with UNFPA on 11th April, 20th July and 4th October, 2018 to review the progress of activity. Besides, prior to organizing any planned activity, UNFPA was informed and in consultation with them, agenda, sessions and methodology to be adopted etc was finalized

IV. Conclusion:

During the year, all planned activities except experience sharing and exposure visit of youths were carried out in timely manner. State level project launch and consultation with key stakeholders at district level organized. Sensitization cum screening workshops to identify youths completed where 299 youths selected for training in three districts. Besides, topics to be covered in the training, the structure of the module and modalities of transaction were finalized by the drafting committee. Module in English and Odia for reference of master trainers and Pragati Sathis was developed. A group of 33 master trainers were identified and three days orientation was organized for them on transaction of the training module. Seven batches of training on leadership and active citizenship of 281 youths of Rayagada, Koraput and Malkangiri organized. Trained youths organized 284 community awareness programs in their respective villages with support from facilitators. Besides, 30 youths successfully executed 30 social action projects. Reporting and monitoring mechanism established for the project.

Further, a video documentary developed for the project in highlighting process of the intervention. And also a web based mobile application on android platform has also been developed where the volunteer are required to upload the activity along with photographs on a real time basis.
